STELLAR VISIONS III
(Source Book 93)

Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law

Source Book 93 is organized as a reference to the Teachings of the O.T.O., and the Official Publications of the A. .A. ., including Essays, Fiction, Poetry, Plays, and Ballets written or published by Aleister Crowley during the time he was the visible Head of these two Great Magical Orders.

This material has been extracted from several sources: university and museum collections, the Archives of the O.T.O.,the several volumes and numbers of the "Equinox", and many other collections of material, published and unpublished,by Aleister Crowley and his Successors.

All listings are © Copyright the O.T.O.,unless otherwise specified, and are reprinted with their permission and assistance.

Crowley himself proposed that the A. .A. . Instructions be published in discrete form ("Equinox" Vol 3 #1),as we now offer them, so that the Student may obtain just the information and inspiration (s)he needs for whatever stage of the Work.

The accounts of the contents of these "Libers" are taken from the "Syllabus" and other accounts in the writings of Crowley, whenever possible.

"These Publications ", to quote The Syllabus of the Official Instructions of the A. .A. .,"divide themselves into four classes:

Class A consists of books of which may be changed not so much as the style of a letter; that is, they represent the utterance of an Adept entirely beyond the criticism of even the Visible Head of the Organization.

Class B consists of books or essays which are the result of ordinary scholarship, enlightened and earnest.

Class C consists of matter which is to be regarded rather as suggestive than anything else.

Class D consists of the Official Rituals and Instructions."

Class E was not defined at the time that the "Syllabus"was written.

"Some publications are composite, and pertain to more than one Class."

"Some publications refer to the O.T.O."

Unnumbered publications carry a Stellar Visions letter code.

Love is the law, love under will.

AO-J O.T.O.

The Heart of the Master

The Vision of the Coming of the Master, an account of his Predecessors, and the Work of such Masters in the world of men. It includes also an Initiated account of the Magical Reality of the Paths and Spheres of the Tree of Life, and the Proclamation of the Master.

The Soul of the Desert

In the Desert each impression is beaten into one's brain with what at first seems maddening monotony. One feels starved; there are so few facts to feed on. One has to pass through an abyss of boredom. At last there comes a crisis. Suddenly the shroud is snatched away from one's soul and one enters upon an entirely new kind of life, in which one no longer regrets the titillation of the thoughts which tumble over each other in civilized surroundings, each preventing one undergoing the ordeal involved when it becomes necessary to penetrate beneath the shadow-show to the secret sanctuary of the soul. I have explained these things in some detail in "The Soul of the Desert".

An Evocation of Bartzabel the Spirit of Mars

The formulae of the Magick of Light, let them be Puissant in the Evocation of the Spirit Bartzabel. (We don't know why this ritual is not an Official Ritual of the A. .A. . in Class D, it is, however even as an unofficial "Unsealed Rite", a very good example of how an Evocational rite may be constructed. Fra. Jack Parsons, as has been treated elsewhere, used this rite to good advantage.-eds.)

Two Fragments of Ritual

Translated by Fra. K. ₱., from an old German M.S. said to have been among the Papers of Weishapt. It by no means appears that the fragments pertain to the Illuminati. Weishapt's M.S. was probably a mere transcript from some older ritual which he valued of purely archaelogical grounds.

Introduction to the O.T.O.

To all it may concern.

Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law.

Let it be known that there exists, unknown to the great crowd, a very ancient order of sages, whose object is the amelioration and spiritual elevation of mankind, by means of conquering error and aiding men and women in their efforts of attaining the power of recognizing the Truth.

This Order has existed already in the most remote and prehistoric times; and it has manifested its activity secretly and openly in the world under different names and in various forms; it has caused social and political revolutions, and proved to be the rock of salvation in times of danger and misfortune. It has always upheld the banner of freedom against tyranny, in whatever shape this appeared, whether as clerical, or political, or social despotism, or oppression of any kind. To this secret order every wise and spiritually enlightened person belongs by right of his or her own nature; because the all, even if they are personally unknown to each other, are one in their purpose and object, and they all work under the guidence of the One Light of Truth. Into this sacred society no one can be admitted by another, unless they have the power to enter it themselves by virtue of their own interior illumination.

All this is known to every enlightened person; but it is known only to few that there exists an external, visable organization of such men and women who having themselves found the path to real self-knowledge, are willing to give to others, desirous of entering that path, the benifit of their experience and to act as spiritual guides to those who are willing to be guided. As a matter of course, those persons who are already sufficiently spiritually developed to enter into consious communion with the great Spiritual Brotherhood will be taught directly by the spirit of wisdom; but those who still need external advise and support will find this in the external organization of that society. Aliester Crowley XI° O.T.O. 1912 e.v.

Though the O.T.O. has its roots in the remotest antiquity it has had a continuous thread of Leadership since at least 1904 e.v. These are the Heads of the Order since that date: Carl Kelner, Theodor Reuss, Aleister Crowley ,Karl Germer,and Grady McMurtry; an unbroken line since the Dawning of the Aeon of the Crowned and Conquering Child.

The Order is still accepting Initiates and is an international body of Men and Women. If you wish further information on its current status, that may be obtained from the publications of the various branches of the Order. The Newsletter and Bulletin published by Thelema Grand Lodge contains a list of these publications as well as a list of contact addresses in various parts of the world.

Interested partys may contact the Grand lodge by sending a self addressed stamped envelope to the following address.
